President's Letter

February meeting was heartwarming to see so many of you having so much fun. Our room was full of friends enjoying each other and quilting. Jessica Darling from Austin gave us a delightful presentation on modern quilts. Her samples and stories were inspiring. We had 137 present, 11 visitors and welcomed 8 new members. Sweet !!!

Kudos go to Dea Jae Shore for having our directories ready at this meeting. Never before so early in the year!! And thanks to all of you for renewing your membership so timely. Be sure to check your directory copy for the updated committee descriptions and policy details. Your board concentrated last year to bring these important details up our current practices. Your cooperation, too, with the survey questions is appreciated; those willing answers should make our guild better yet.

This year think often of our AUCTION. It is our only fund-raiser; everyone's help and attendance is needed : September 17 at the nearby LaQuinta. It is always fun. Plan on how you can assist. March meeting should be good also, with a special work-half-day afterward. Please plan to come with your special kit to help. See you at there. Wear your green!!

Sincerely, Ida

GSAQG Board Meeting Minutes

Feb. 1, 2016

Ida Blankenship called the meeting to order at 3:05 pm. Those in attendance were Karen Lambdin, Cindy Shutt, Elaine Staller, Dea Jae Shore, Janet Miller, Jeana Kubik, Sherry Duringer, and Linda Ethridge.

The minutes were approved as presented in the newsletter.

The Calico Rose nominee was Melissa Allo for her work with the winter retreat; unanimously approved.

Treasurer – Cindy Shutt reported a balance of $69,900.20. The December financials have been checked and approved. The completed budget was in the last newsletter.

1st VP for Special Events – Elaine Staller. Carol Bryant has raffle quilt fabric and kits ready for the Feb. meeting.

Auction – Mary McCarthy sent an expense budget. There was discussion about charging admission. Winter retreat went well and Linda Kirk will be in charge next year.

Summer retreat registration begins this month. Mini-retreat- unknown who will be taking charge.

2nd VP for Information – Dea Jae Shore will be handing out directories at the Feb. meeting. There are already 246 renewals for 2016. The web page is now on a new host, which has some improvements, especially for mobile viewing.

There was discussion on how to make membership sign-up and renewals simpler and faster. The membership committee needs extra help in busy months.

3rd VP for Programs – Janet Miller reported that there are only 2 people signed up for Linda Poole's Friday workshop, so she will open up the sign-ups to non-members.

At the May meeting, Janet will be encouraging Calico Rose recipients to wear them that day. There will be a workday in May and lunch provided.

In March, Gone Quiltin' shop will present the program.

Janet opened a discussion of how to pay our own members who are professional teachers. It was decided to change the policy so that guild members who are professional teachers will be paid to present programs and workshops at our meetings.

4th Vice President for Services – Jeana Kubik reported that the guild needs new librarians immediately.

5th VP for Community Outreach – Sherry Duringer reported that the Bright Hopes committee needs one or more committee trainees and helpers. Ida is considering passing out a questionnaire at the meeting asking members which positions they might consider volunteering for.

Sherry received a request for a quilt from KLRN for their auction. Gail Dickman found a nice QPC quilt that Jeana Kubik will quilt for this cause. In return, at the auction, KLRN provides advertisement for GSAQG.

The Storybook committee is taking quilts to schools this month.

The Community Quilt Angels sent Sherry the final job description. It will be reviewed for next month.

Ida would like to update committee job descriptions this year. The meeting was adjourned at 4:27 pm.

Respectfully submitted, Karen Lambdin, Secretary

GSAQG Guild Meeting Minutes

February 2016

Ida Blankenship called the meeting to order at 10:03 am. She welcomed several guests.

Ida then acknowledged those members who had read the minutes in the newsletter, and asked for corrections to the minutes. Since there were none, the minutes stand approved as presented.

A questionnaire was passed out among the members to encourage participation in the many guild activities.

Treasurer – Cindy Shutt reported a balance of $69,900.20.

1st VP for Special Events – the spring mini-retreat is cancelled unless there is someone who wants to jump in and make it happen. There is a fall mini-retreat being planned.

Mary McCarthy reported that the auction committee is getting kits together. The auction will be on Sept. 17th at the La Quinta.

Melissa Allo reported that the Winter Retreat was a success. She thanked her committee members for their help. Linda Kirk will be in charge next year.

Ida Blankenship presented the Calico Rose at this time to Melissa Allo for her work on the Winter Retreat.

Nancy Beasley is taking registration for the Summer Retreat that will be held on June 19-24. There were 9 spots left.

Carol Bryant has kits to make the raffle quilt for the 2017 Quilt Show. The kits are due in April.

2nd VP for Information – Dea Jae Shore has directories available today. There are 249 members at this time. There are 631 likes on the GSAQG Facebook page.

3rd VP for Programs – Janet Miller reported that Jessica Darling will be presenting a program on modern quilting today. In March, Gone Quiltin' will have a trunk show and there will be a mini-workday for Bright Hopes, Quilt Angels, and QPC.

Linda Poole will be the speaker in April. She will have an applique workshop and a wholecloth painting workshop.

The May meeting will be a major workday and guild birthday party. Lunch will be provided. Calico Rose recipients will be honored.

4th VP for Services – Jeana Kubik announced a need for a new librarian.

The Golden Carrot was awarded to Evelyn Santoni who turned in 100 Bright Hopes quilts.

Gail Dickman has two new QPC projects – English paper piecing and an Ohio Starr.

Ellen Hernandez has a sale price on magazines as they are overflowing with some issues.

5th VP for Community Service – Sherry Durringer announced a desperate need for volunteers in the Storybook, QSOS, and Community Education committees.

The ALS challenge deadline is July 31, and information can be found on the guild website.

Linda Kirk needs a co-chair for the Storybooks committee. She showed two quilts that were turned in. She has 3 challenge kits left.

Carol Steeley reported that Bright Hopes made 592 quilts and 595 totes for the Children's Shelter. She reminded members to sew a label on the quilts. At the March mini-workshop remember to bring a sack lunch and drink.

Mary McCarthy needs help with the QSOS committee. Anyone who would like to help or be interviewed should contact her.

Kitty Janiga with Community Education is in need of volunteers. They go to schools, libraries, and other functions to share the art of quilting.

Ida announced that there are 11 guests, 137 members present. She introduced 8 new members.

There was no new or unfinished business. The meeting was adjourned at 10:55 am.

Respectfully submitted by Karen Lambdin, Secretary member with the oldest award and the most Roses will receive a prize. So dust off your Calico Roses and proudly wear them. Bright Hopes community partner, The San Antonio Children's Shelter, will present a short program

JUNE. Karen K. Buckley will present two workshops, Ocean Sunrise, on Friday and Fiesta Mexico Block 3 on Saturday.

Calico Rose

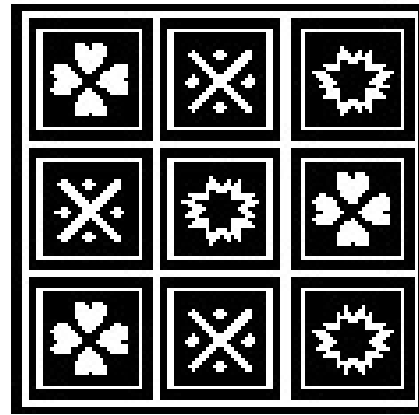

Melissa Allo was the recipient of the Calico Rose for her leadership of the Winter Retreat.

3.16 Pieces of the Past, 71: Canadian Red Cross Quilts, by Ellen Hernandez

This World War I signature quilt from Waskatenau, Alberta, Canada is evidence that Canadians have long made quilts to support war efforts. Women eagerly responded to the Red Cross fundraising guide published in the December 1917 issue of Modern Priscilla magazine by making raffle quilts. The lofty goal was $1,000 per quilt, the cost of one ambulance, or sheets and blankets for 129 hospital beds. Signatures were sold for 25 cents and then embroidered. This quilt has over 300 signatures including 28 Alberta soldiers and sailors.

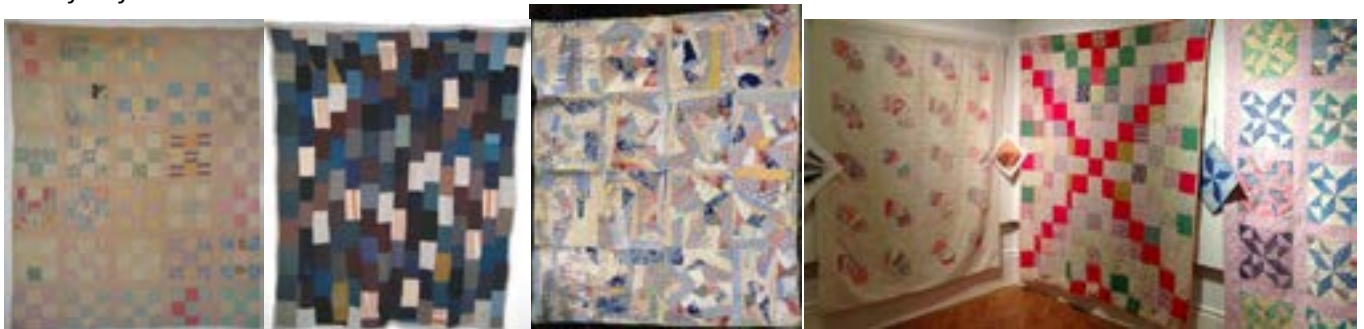

During World War II the Red Cross encouraged quilters to again make signature raffle quilts or to donate completed quilts which would be sent to Britain. Canadians responded impressively. Thousands of quilts were sent to Britain over the course of the war to include 25,000 from Nova Scotia in 1944 alone. At first the Red Cross provided the wadding (batting) and striped winceyette (a soft flannel) for the backing. When these supplies ran out, frugal women used clothing, blankets, sheets, and any other fabrics and scraps available. Young girls in 4-H clubs and youth groups also made quilts. Rainbow, a popular hand quilting pattern was often used, known as the Baptist fan in the US. All the quilts included a small Canadian Red Cross label on the back. However, the quilters could not add their own names. The quilts were distributed to those made homeless from bombings, people forced to relocate, hospitals, day nurseries, and the Canadian Armed Forces stationed in London. Due to the fabric and clothing ration which continued until 1949 the quilts were well used for many years.

Very few of these Canadian quilts or quilters have been located. The Canadian Red Cross Quilt Research Group (CRCQ) of the Quilters' Guild of the British Isles has attempted to record the stories of the quilts. Stella Simmons' house was bombed and had no roof, doors, or windows. Her family used their quilt immediately and she has used it ever since. Pat Staple and her sister slept together in a double bed covered with a crazy quilt of odd fabrics. Doreen Palmer who served in the Voluntary Aid Detachment said that her all her barrack beds had quilts. Evelyn Gardiner, a nurse, said that with heating restrictions the quilts were much appreciated in the nurses' quarters. To date, the CRCQ has documented 179 quilts. A book about their efforts was published, Comfort from Kindness.

News from the book library!

Our biennial inventory was conducted in January. Mary Ruth and I are still cleaning up a few loose ends, but I was able to go thru all the donations we received late 2015 and put them in the inventory.....

Note the two books at the end are from our speaker at the January meeting, Sue Nickles. Ms. Nickles donated one book and I purchased the other. And, "Nine Patch" has a special dedication Sherry Derringer's father. All of these books have been inventoried into the database, updated on the web site at Collectorz, and will be available for checkout at the March meeting.

I have decided to step down from being Library chair. Jeana announced it at the February meeting. The book library is responsible for:

- Bringing a portion of the library to each meeting.
- Overseeing borrowing of the books by members and updating the database of the activity.
- Contacting members if books are overdue and collecting fines.
- Purchasing books for the library and processing into the database.
- Accepting donations and verifying duplicates against the database. If none, process into the database.
- Preparing quarterly reports to the board member over Services.

There are other general rules governing the library in the directory. As of this writing, the book library held 1423 books. The Board approved our use of an online service, Collectorz.com, to 1. use a program (by subscription) to maintain a digital database, and 2. upload the database to the Collectorz website (by subscription). Someone on the book library committee should be computer savvy to handle the database and the use of Excel (used to convert the database language to a spreadsheet to create labels). It also helps to know Word to create quarterly reports and articles for the newsletter. The two subscription services cost the committee $25 per year and have been paid thru 2017. These costs come from the $300 / year budget set aside for the book library by the Board. Besides some supplies that may be needed throughout the year, the rest of the budget is for books!!!

I will be available to train and transition the services over to a new committee to make the transition as smooth as possible for the general membership. Just let me know if you want to see the collection at the storage, or want to sit at the back with Mary Ruth and I to see how it goes.
