THE IDES OF MARCH

Quilters, piecers, appliquers and guild members,
Lend me your eyes, ears, needles and pins.

Opportunity abound for your involvement in quilting activities for the next several months and four are listed below:

- o Fourth Annual Bluebonnet Patchwork Trail on April 5 through 7
- o Viva Botanica on April 6 and 7
- o Folk Life Festival on June 6 through 9
- o Annual Guild Auction and Boutique on June 29

Who can we count on to provide volunteer hours at Viva Botanica, Folk Life Festival and The Auction or Boutique? And assistance in completing projects for the auction, or to create items for the boutique is also required.

There are three people that need to be recognized this month.
Garnette Hanson went beyond her two-year term to see that the guild was not without a treasurer. She was available for whatever was needed by the guild. Karen Nanos is greatly appreciated for stepping up to take the treasurer position.

The guild is constantly rewarded with Holly Nelson on the board with her exciting wit and spirit. Thank you Garnette, Karen and Holly.

Now whom can we count on to fill the two openings of President Pro Tempore and 4th Vice President for Services? You will experience the excitement of working on the board.

Last month we were honored to have Carol Doak for the program and two workshops. What an exciting two days. Everyone that took the classes must have been pleased.

Be careful on St. Patrick's Day

STYLE SHOW- AMERICA THE BEAUTIFUL

Picking Patterns That Work By Valerie Arcement

There was a time when I would salivate at some of the really cute vests and jackets that I saw in quilt shops. Those of you who have been a member of the GSAQG as long as I have, know that I have tried most of the wearable art techniques that have come and gone in the quilter's wearable world. I've woven, torn, layered, crinkled, edged, beaded, bordered and stitched fabrics until they were no longer dogs but works of art! That part is easy. The hard part is making that new fabric into a wearable garment that makes me look good, not like a walking patchwork tent.

I finally learned that patterns made by inexperienced pattern makers (ie. quilters who are better at making quilts than designing clothes that fit) always look better on the pattern front cover than they do on me. The reason? Most 'quilty' garments are made like quilts: straight seams, batted, bulky and look like they were intended for a bed. Actually, sometimes the garment turned out looking great, but not on me.

I don't have one of those 'one-size-fits-all' figures. Honestly, few people do. I have had some hits and misses with the more traditional pattern makers, as well: Simplicity, McCalls and Vogue. But when I did find a pattern that worked on my body, that met my personal criteria of fits well, looks good and is comfortable, I used a red marker on the front of that pattern and wrote in big letters: THIS FITS! And I usually indicated why and where some adjustments could be made.

There are some important things to remember when making wearable art clothing:

1. Use a pattern that you know fits your figure. Make the fabric first using the technique that you have been dying to try. Then, when you are satisfied with your 'new' fabric, cut out a garment that you know fits you and that you will have fun wearing. It doesn't HAVE to look like the one on the cover from the quilt shop.
2. Don't use a pattern that makes a 'bull's eye' over your back, butt or bust. Smaller, off-center designs are attractive and lead the eye away from areas we least like emphasized.

3. If you want to quilt it, keep the batting light-weight. Believe me, it will fit much better and you won't feel like Barney wrapped in a down comforter. Good quality flannel or the lightest weight cotton batt works best. And don't forget to put the flannel or batt through a gentle wash before you use it.
4. Keep the design simple. More isn't always better in a wearable garment. Emphasize a single technique in your garment rather than everything you know how to do.
5. Fabric manipulation is fun, but the more you quilt it, the stiffer it gets. Keep in mind the garment you want to make and whether this technique will fit well in that pattern design.

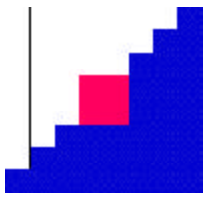

My personal criteria is if the pattern fits, I'll wear it, if it doesn't, I won't. I no longer buy what the pattern maker thinks should fit me but what I know will work on my figure.

WINTER RETREAT

Winter Retreat 2002 is but a memory, a good one for those who attended. 21 ladies came to Harambe Oaks and sewed to their heart's content. We worked on our own projects, a quilt top for the 2002 Auction and Bright Hopes quilts. Consider joining us at Winter Retreat 2003, scheduled for January 17-19, 2003 for a well-deserved treat after Christmas. Kris Thomson is the retreat chairperson, with Sandy Mathews assisting her.

Red, White and Quilt!

July 7th-12th, 2002

Camp Lone Star

LaGrange, Texas

Registration is now up to 30 - that means we need a minimum of 12 more to ensure at least 40 for this fun-fun-fun event (we always have several drop out at the last minute.) The reason for the emphasis on "40" is because if we don't have 40, this event is cancelled.

So...everyone is welcome, not just guild members.

Again, you can place your $35 deposit anytime between now and the May meeting with the $235 balance due at the May meeting. Four classes are being offered in addition to several other goodies. Not sure what it's all about? Ask someone who's been or call Sherry Allred, 210-656-0237 or Amy Cottrell, 830-981-8832.

BRIGHT HOPES

In my thanks to committee members last month, I got a name wrong. It should have read Carolyn Richardson, not Carolyn Williams. So sorry Carolyn.

January meeting we had 19 comforters turned in, 24 checked out and 1 tote bag turned in. Biggest number was 48 comforters turned in by the Snappy Scrappers. They got together and made them in memory of Virginia Wright. So wonderful of them and there will be 48 happy children who receive them.. Many thanks scrappers.

Time again to make kits. We will do so at my home on Thursday morning, March 7. Please call me for directions - 622-9522. I will make something for lunch - a mean enchilada soup or a pasta salad - weather being the deciding factor.

February Program: Carol Doak was Fantastic!

What a terrific guest! Carol Doak, who authored Easy Machine Paper Piecing and changed the quilting lives of generations, was a hit in February.

She presented a slide/trunk show at the guild meeting that not only showed off her vivid sense of color and movement, but also chronicled the evolution of her popular paper-piecing techniques. And during both of her sold-out workshops, she introduced the joys of paper-piecing (her way) to those new to it, and showed new tricks to veterans. Who knew that razor-sharp points, matching seams and quick miniatures could be so easy and so much fun?

Carol has a lively sense of humor and kept us all encouraged and excited about the possibilities. If you missed either workshop, she donated several of her books to the library – and there were more than a few “over-achievers” in the classes who can now demonstrate their sharpened skills. Ask them!

DEEP IN THE HEART 2003

Fabric for the 2003 Quilt Show Challenge will be available at all guild meetings until all 60 pieces are gone. The fabric is $5 per piece with all monies going into the Challenge prize fund. You may make any quilted item using this fabric. Get your Challenge in March!!!

CALICO ROSE

Barbara Wofford coordinated the bus trip to Houston. She was so organized and saw to every need. The trash bags she brought were most welcome. The video tapes made the time fly. The picnic dinner from Jason's Deli was delicious and the bottled water was appreciated. All in all she was the perfect hostess and was appreciated by all. Barbara has been handling the advertising for the newsletter for several years generating several hundred dollars income every year covering about half the newspaper cost. Thank you Barbara for all that you have done for the Guild over the years that you have been a member.

IT'S NEVER TOO EARLY!!

Well, the Winter Retreat 2002 is over and it was a HUGE success. 48 hours of eating too much good food, great fellowship and renewal of friendships and working on UFOs or as Susan Johnson called them WIPS works in progress.

The most improved quilter goes to Sandy

Mathews. The first year all she brought to work on was a garment and she said that she doesn't do quilting she just is a fiber artist. Well, six years later, she brought no garments to work on and showed a Patriotic quilt that she had made and while we were there she made her first bed size top. It's beautiful. Congratulations Sandy keep up the great work.

Circle your calendar for next year January 17-19, 2003 for the Winter Retreat. The cost will be 165. If you start putting away $15 a month you will have 165 "free" dollars" to pay for it in December. Those of you that were new to the retreat this year have already said that they want to join us next year so the rest of you start thinking about it. It's truly great fun. I'll be the chairman and Sandy will be my assistant. We've decided that it will work along the same principle as the other major activities. There will be a chairman with an assistant who will be the chairman for the following years retreat.

Happy quilting and keep on stitching

Friday Workshop (all day, at Cavender Buick):

Saturday Workshop: A Gazillion Blocks

Have you every noticed how many blocks you can make from half-square triangles? This workshop teaches a variety of shortcut methods of making half-square triangles with lots of ideas for how to use them. (3 hours)

FRAN SNAY (11-12 October 2002)

Lecture: Technique is the Game - Color with Movement is the Thang

Show and tell with lots of beautiful quilts. This fits with those who are afraid to use color, also teaches technique and how to make the quilt move with wonderful fabrics and layout designs, all in one. . It's a lot of fun creating a new look!

Friday Workshop (all day, at Cavender Buick): A Pineapple Quilt (She's known as The Pineapple Lady)

This is such a traditional way to make a wonderful quilt. The pineapple pattern has taken on many colorful and unusual ways to use your designing ideas. A great way to use up those fabrics you stashed for that special project. Choose fabrics with lots of movement in them for a really dynamic quilt.

Saturday Workshop: Sawtooth Star Strip Quilt

These are fun and easy quilts to do. I use my own idea and traditional sawtooth pattern. You will learn how to make the stars and put the quilt together. You will learn how to choose fabrics to finish off your star strips. These tops make wonderful and fast gifts. Any quilt lover will want to make these over and over. These can be scrappy in bright colors or just plain country.

GREATER SAN ANTONIO QUILT GUILD
AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER

ATTENTION

I have been asked on behalf of the Veterans of Foreign Wars if anyone would like to donate cross stitch, needle point kits, etc. or other small projects for the women on the ships in the Middle East. When they are using gun fire or shooting from the ship the women remain in the quarters and aren't allowed above deck. These can be UFO's or anything that you no longer want. I will pick them at the March meeting.

Thank you.

Cathy Baisley

I have also been asked by an Air Force captain if anyone in the quilt guild would like to do a T-shirt quilt for her. Please contact Cathy Baisley at 694-0343 for information.
