Why Do WE Quilt?

Last month my topic was on past quilters and their motivation. A friend suggested that I follow that topic by researching current motives. Since that seemed like a good idea, I decided to ask everyone at winter retreat to give me their reasons for quilting.

As I read through the responses I became aware that things have changed very little. Yes, women made quilts because of a need to keep their families warm but they also thrived on the social aspect of quilting bees. That has not changed.

Enjoy just a few of the inspiring responses from our fellow quilters:

"Quilting is my way of expressing nature's wondrous designs to feed my soul."

"It's a form of stress relief, and I also enjoy the feeling of creating something unique."

"...gives me a creative outlet that I so desperately need."

"if I didn't I'd have no excuse to buy fabric"

"to stay in contact with my friends"

"to give my family and friends permanent hugs for the times I can't be there"

"it keeps me from doing house work"

"because most quilters have a great appreciation for life and beauty"

"I love the companionship and creativity of quilters"

"my daily problems dissolve away. It gives my mind the rest it needs."

"it is cheaper than therapy"

A special THANK YOU to all who provided the above inspiration. They said it all!

Ruth

Calico Rose Award

For many years this individual has done a tremendous amount of work for the guild. Not only does she bring boxes of books to every meeting, she keeps the library current and functional.

Thank you Mary Ruth Flores!
Mary Ruth was nominated by Betty Brister.

Storybooks And Quilts On The Go*

The annual Mid-Winter conference of the American Library Association took place in San Antonio in January. Among those attending were librarians with a special interest in the Northside Independent School District Library Services. Northside was the winner of the 2004 AASL National School Library Media Program of the Year Award for a Large District. This award is considered to be the library equivalent of the Academy Awards. It is particularly noteworthy that Northside received this award while simultaneously enduring budget cuts and some understaffed libraries. By means of staff development seminars and administrative workshops, the District's library personnel have managed to convey information to teachers about the numerous possibilities for using a modern school library.

One of these possibilities pertains to participation in the Greater San Antonio Quilt Guild community outreach project: "Storybooks And Quilts To Go." Cathy Fielding, librarian at Monroe May Elementary School, used her experience with the quilt project to prepare a learning station for some of the ALA attendees. She chose three books and their corresponding quilts to represent the program; The Keeping Quilt, The Quilt, and The Josefina Story Quilt. She included a sample of a log book that accompanies each quilt and handouts about the program's origins in San Antonio. Ms. Fielding included in her display some photos of the quilts being used by librarians in the Northside District and copies of curricular involvement activities.

She explained how the quilts are delivered by the Guild committee and how they are distributed among the librarians. She took care to explain the importance of the log books in keeping track of the numbers of children exposed to the quilts and how the logs books bring back suggestions and comments to the Guild. Many of her listeners were amazed at how many children had seen the books and quilts: 12,199 students throughout San Antonio in 2005 Fall semester. Several of the librarians had books in mind which they thought would be perfect for a quilt.

Ms. Fielding emphasized that children were allowed - even encouraged - to touch the quilts (with clean hands!). This simple statement elicited warm approval from the elementary school librarians who know children are so very tactile.

Just how does the Storybooks And Quilts To Go program fit into a school's curriculum? An imaginative teacher can find several ways to use the Storybooks And Quilts To Go. First, of course, are the storybooks themselves. Children develop their listening skills and discuss story elements during story time. They also learn to appreciate reading, and when the quilts are presented the story is reinforced. New concepts are learned from the quilts themselves. Ms. Fielding (pictured below) says she has seen four-year olds that have been shown a seam in a quilt and days later the children are still pointing out seams on skirts and blue jeans, absolutely excited by their new knowledge.

The older the children are, the more possibilities the storybooks and quilts present. Many teachers use the quilts as writing and discussion prompts. For example:

- What is an heirloom? Tell of your family's heirlooms.
- Quilts tell a story. Using pictures and words tell us four things about yourself. These drawings are then put together to make a class (paper) quilt.
- The Keeping Quilt is about Jewish holidays. Write about the traditions of a different culture.
- Quilts often use geometric shapes. Where else can you find these shapes?

During its Pioneer Days the teachers at Oak Hills Terrace Elementary School use the quilts to get children thinking about how basic needs were met in earlier days.

Ms. Fielding's presentation ignited a desire among many of the ALA members to seek out quilt groups in their own areas and develop a similar program. Perhaps some day every district will be involved in a Storybooks And Quilts To Go project. Wouldn't that be wonderful!

We had two great workshops and an interesting lecture from Karen Eckmeier in February. All those who attended her workshops were high in praise of her skill and techniques. As an aside, Karen enjoyed our sunny Texas weather a little longer than she planned. Her scheduled Sunday morning flight back to Connecticut was cancelled because of the tremendous snow storm which hit the northeast. She didn't get to leave San Antonio until Tuesday morning. Our extra thanks to Barbara Wofford, her hostess, for entertaining her an extra two days!

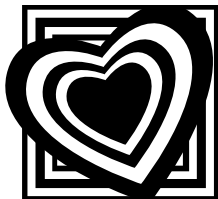

Tips and Hints

- After drawing or tracing a pattern onto clear template plastic, it can be hard to see the lines to cut out the shape. Put masking tape on the wrong side of the plastic over the lines. The contrast allows you to clearly see the cutting lines. Remove the masking tape when you finish cutting so you won't have sticky residue on your new template.
- Protect the tips of your good scissors by covering them with a short length of 1/4" tubing (like that used with drip irrigation systems).
- After you've cleaned your sewing machine, put a couple drops of sewing machine oil on a Q-tip and go over the nooks and crannies again. You'll be amazed at the amount of "stuff" that was left behind.
- Pre-washing small pieces of fabric (like for your $5 block)? Instead of the washing machine, use your salad spinner. You can wash, rinse and spin with very little fraying.

National Quilting Day

March 18, 2006 is National Quilting Day.

The following is an invitation from NQA. "You are invited to join us for a special project to celebrate the 15th birthday of National Quilting Day – 'Happy Birth Day, Baby!' Make a baby quilt, with at least one heart incorporated in the design, and donate it to your local hospital for the first baby born on National Quilting Day."

If you would like to participate in this event, make a small quilt, include a heart and attach a label that reads:

Happy Birth Day, Baby!
Presented in celebration of National Quilting Day 2006
By the Greater San Antonio Quilt Guild
San Antonio, Texas

Bring the completed quilt(s) to the March meeting. If we have more quilts than hospitals, the extras will be given to the Bright Hopes project so make lots. Lets celebrate National Quilting Day in a big way and let the community know that we care.

Lori Branson has contacted 11 hospitals and we have 6 quilts as of the February guild meeting. Please consider donating a quilt.

COMMUNITY OUTREACH UPDATE

Pro Show Event at the Mall

If a picture is worth a thousand words, what is a collage of pictures worth? In this case, we'd like to suggest it's worth a thousand happy memories made by guild members who represented our guild at the Creative Inspiration Sewing, Quilting, and Embroidery Expo in January. Twenty-three guild members volunteered a grand total of 137 hours to this three day event at Crossroads Mall. Thank you all for a job well done. Mary McCarthy and Sandra Retzloff, Pro Show Co Chairs

Community Response Committee

We received a "Thank You" letter from the SA Children's Museum for the Leap Frog Quilt that we were able to create in record time for their auction in December. We currently have two more approved requests. We will be able to fulfill these requests with donations from our members.

The CRC is very pleased that quilt donations have been forthcoming; however, the requests from community organizations most often request large quilts but give us very little lead time to create them. For that reason we need to plan ahead. I would like to ask bee leaders to rally their bee members to make an entire full size or queen size quilt as a team. If not an entire quilt, maybe enough blocks to make a quilt top. Once we have a top we will ask for other volunteers to do the quilting.

Your help will be greatly appreciated by the committee members and the community at large. Please call me or a member of the CRC (Carolyn Richardson, Sandra Retzloff, Debra Pavelka) if you need additional information or have donations. Gundy Cleven, CRC Committee Chair

Quilting at the ITC

If you happen to stop by the Institute of Texan Cultures on any given Friday, you may just run into Lillis and Fred Atchley quilting at the frame on the main floor of the museum just around the corner from the spinning wheel and a bail of cotton. On February 3 we found them sharing their knowledge of quilt history with visitors while adding tiny quilting stitches to Lillis' beautiful "Apple Core" quilt. If you are interested in joining the quilters at the museum, please contact Kay Allison, ITC Quilters Committee Chair. She will be happy to explain how to start the ITC application process.

Open House Celebration

Barbara Jean Davis, librarian, spotlighted some of our story book quilts at St. Gregory the Great Catholic Elementary School during Catholic School Week. She has been involved in our story book program for the past two years. During her school's open house on February 1st, Barbara Jean shared her knowledge of the project with parents, grandparents, and visitors. Here she is shown visiting with Mr. Robert B. Guerra Jr., grandparent of a student currently attending St. Gregory's. It's so much fun delivering buckets of books and quilts to Barbara Jean at the beginning of each semester because her sparkling eyes tell us that she's as excited about reading the stories and seeing the quilts as the children are.

Kappa Kappa Iota Luncheon

After reading about our storybooks and quilts program in the Express News, Agnes Wright (shown in picture), Program Chairwoman for Kappa Kappa Iota, a sorority for retired teachers, invited the Storybook And Quilts To Go Committee to present a program at her group's January luncheon. During the presentation, Mary McCarthy, Sandra Retzloff and Barbara Gilstad delighted in telling the story behind how the storybook project got started. They also shared stories about guild members who have donated books and made quilts for the project over the past six years. The quilts were well received by over 40 retired teachers; even the waiters and waitress at the restaurant expressed interest in them. Barbara Gilstad, Storybooks and Quilts to Go Committee Chair (storybooks@sbcglobal.net).

Fashion Extravaganza & Luncheon

Join us for our first annual Cotton Club Fashion Extravaganza & Luncheon on Saturday, March 4 from 1-2. We will show a preview of this year's apparel and accessories classes, as well as examples of some great patterns. There is no charge for the show and luncheon, so come and plan to have a great time!

Skill Builders

On the 3rd Saturday of each month, we are now offering our Skill Builders series. These are a series of lectures and demos designed to help you learn more about all aspects of quilting. On March 18 Ruth Felty will tell us all about battings. There is no charge, but we would appreciate your registration so that we have the correct number of handouts available.

Store hours: Monday and Thursday, 10-7
Tues., Wed. & Fri., 10-5 Saturday, 9-4

Try this simple block called The Crocus. The block should be 6" x 6" finished or 6.5" x 6.5" unfinished. It can be done as paper piecing. Make the light gray a pale blue, the white a WOW, and the dark gray a lovely spring pastel.

Bring as many as you like with your name attached to each one to the April Guild meeting. All names go in the basket and the lucky winner in the drawing gets all of the blocks. If you would like a paper piecing pattern see Dea Jae Shore at the Guild meetings and she will have some for you to try out your skills.
