President's Notes

Welcome new Guild members Rachel Barlow, Claire Poehler, and Tina Lafferty. I know we'll have fun working on Guild projects for many years to come.

After four years this is my last President's Notes. It is a bittersweet time, I have so enjoyed being your President but it is time to sit in the audience, working on my handwork.

To the Board members, Dea Jae, Sandra, Mary, Melanie, Sandi, Barbara, Cindy and Donnis, thank you so very much for your support. You made my job easier. Thanks Larry for making sure I got the motions done correctly.

To my bee mates, Shirley, Janice and Candy, thanks for answering the phone and not saying no.

I will treasure the quilt I received at the November meeting. Needed a punch of color in the newly painted master bedroom and the bright batiks give it to me. Thanks so very much to Sandi Price for spearheading the project, members for making the blocks and setting them, Karen Nanos for the beautiful quilting and Shirley Jones for the binding and label.

Best of luck to Ida and the new Board,
Janet Miller, President GSAQG

Lucille died 22 October. She was a Charter Guild member, ITC docent, military wife, and Girl Scout Leader. Linda Reed of the Guild is one of her daughters.

Dorothy Hurst's obit was in the San Antonio paper on 11/11. She was a charter member of our guild and a member of the Bluebonnet Bee with Sherry Allred and Bonnie McCoy.

Dea Jae Shore is recovering nicely from her surgery on 11/12/12.

Nancy Beasley fell and bruised her face so badly that she did not come to the meeting on Sat. Hope they are going away quickly Nancy.

Thanks to Sandra Lowell for organizing the Houston bus trip. It was an early start for the gals, and several guys, door prizes for everyone, and overall things went quite smoothly.

Storybooks and Quilts to Go

The Holidays came early for Storybooks – three new quilts were completed and returned at the November meeting! Carol Steely, Ruth Felty and Sherry Cook brought in their beautiful contributions in plenty of time to get them into the spring semester rotation. Then three new titles were adopted by Carol Steely, Tina Lafferty and Rebecca Solis. Tina and Carol are both brand new members of the guild. It's great to see our newest members getting involved in projects so quickly.

I was contacted by the Community Education Chair of the Mississippi Valley Quilters Guild of Davenport, Iowa this month. She happened across our website and they are interested in starting a Storybook program of their own. Their guild covers a large area—parts of Iowa and Illinois with several school districts in each state.

Even though services are closed at our December meeting, I will have the “Grandmother Kits” available for adoption. If you are expecting some small visitors over the holidays, be sure to check out a quilt and book for cuddle time.

Pieces From The Past The Hawaiian Shirt - Submitted by Ellen Hernandez

From unique, to fashionable, to gaudy, and then again cool, the Hawaiian shirt and prints have had a successful journey.

Ellery J. Chun
FATHER OF THE ALOHA SHIRT

A young man's idea during the Depression gained world recognition. Ellery Chun, a new Yale graduate, returned to Hawaii to work in his father's dry-goods store. He fashioned a few men's shirts similar to the island palaka, blue and white denim shirts worn by field workers, using leftover kimono fabric. Chun's sister, Ethel, drafted the fabric designs which were printed in Japan on rayon Kabe crepe, cotton yukata, silk, and satin. The shirt was a hit, and Chun was wise to register the name "Aloha Shirt" in 1936.

Soon, other business men started similar companies, and artists such as Elsie Das and John 'King Keoni' Meigs were designing fabrics with floral designs, Matson Cruise line ships and logo, fish, and fruit.

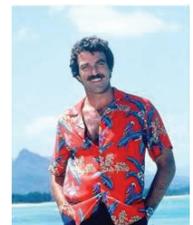

President Harry Truman was pictured on a 1951 cover of Life magazine wearing a Hawaiian shirt. Eisenhower and his staff often wore the comfortable shirts. Hollywood was responsible for the surge in tropical clothing fabric when stars such as Ginger Rogers, Betty Grable, Janet Gaynor and Bing Crosby wore them. From Here to Eternity stars Montgomery Clift, Frank Sinatra, and Donna Reed donned the prints on and off stage. And then of course there was Elvis in Blue Hawaii.

Tea timers, sleeveless tailored women's tops with Mandarin collars, were made with aloha fabrics on silk.

While popular with tourists, the Hawaiian shirt's acceptance in Hawaii itself took some time. A city and county resolution was passed in 1947 allowing employees to wear Hawaiian shirts to work from June to October. The old European suit and tie influence gradually faded. By the late 1950s, tropical prints were made with polyester fabrics. Traditional bright patterns were substituted with muted colors in the 1970s, often turning the fabric inside out.

By the 1980s, Hawaiian shirts were making a comeback. Tom Selleck's signature Magnum PI jungle bird shirt was even contributed to the Smithsonian Institute. Today, vintage shirts sell at auction and on ebay for thousands.

This 1930s handmade Japanese silk is selling for $4,500.

What happens to all those once worn Hawaiian shirts and muu muus? Many make them into colorful scrap quilts.

This is new member Sharon Wilson. Please make her feel welcome!

Janet Miller's next to last meeting as Guild President! After 2 terms she is ready to sit and observe for a while. Thanks for all of your hard work over the past 4 years Janet. Our guild has grown and prospered under your leadership.

As a token of our appreciation for everything, this is the quilt that Sandi Price got lots of people to help to put it together and present to Janet as she leaves office.

Mary Ruth Flores showed us part of a QPC project that needs to be put together. Contact her or Carol Rouse if you would like to work on it.

On the left is a bed runner that was mde by the QPC committee. Awesome job Carol & team!

Bring and Brag is "Sew" Much Fun To See Every Month!

Carol Rouse showed us 5 tops that her QPC committee has completed. What an amazing reality they all are! These 3 on this page as well as the two on the top of the next page are all from her commitment to getting some tops done. Thanks Carol!

Bring and Brag is "Sew" Much Fun To See Every Month!

Carol said this pattern was one of the most fun to do! Stop by her QPC table and see what she has planned for 2013!

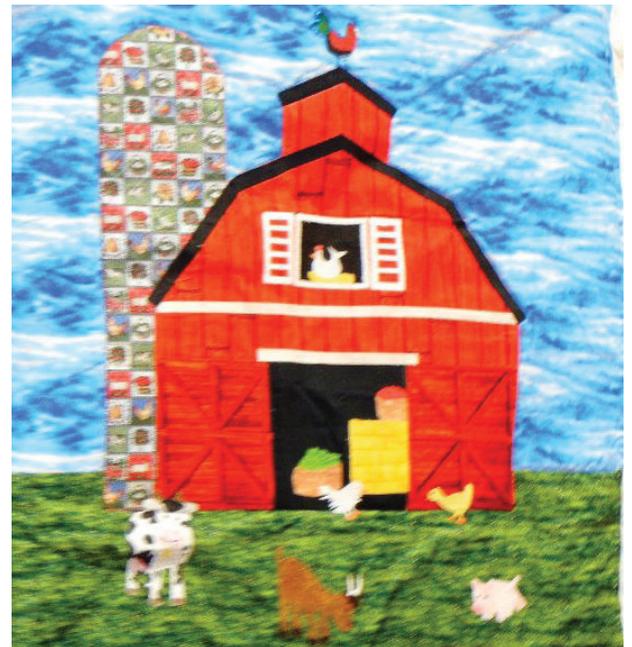

This is going to keep someone very warm! It is huge! Maybe a King Size QPC project?

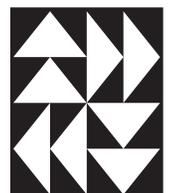

May-

This is a "Story Book Quilt" that goes out to local schools to inspire kids to appreciate quilts at a young age. Stop by Sherry Durringer's table and she will be glad to show you what she has that needs to be done. She also has some "Quilts to Go" that can be checked out and shared with your special guests in your home.

Larry Beauchamp did this using "Dog to Puppy" fabric. We all have some of that fabric in our stashes! Right? This gives us incentive and inspiration to use them up! Thanks Larry!

See these and many more on our web site www.sanantoniokilt.org

Bring and Brag is "Sew" Much Fun To See Every Month!

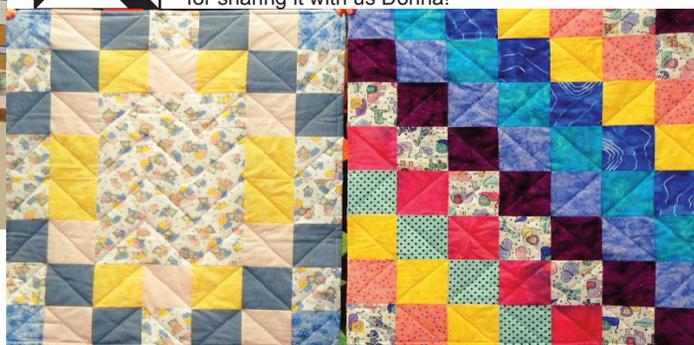

These three are also for our "Story Book Quilts" project. It is unbelievable how creative our Guild members are! We are lucky to have so many that give their time and effort freely for such a worthy cause. It will benefit our gild in the long run, by hopefully giving the legacy of quilting to a new generation of quilters.

Donna Ingram did this beautiful "Irish Chain" in earthy tones, with a touch of peach on the binding. Thanks for sharing it with us Donna!

Sherry Cook's granddaughter helped her make this quilt to go with a book she had called "The Promise Quilt". It sounded like a really neat book for young girls. Thanks Sherry!

Helen Bartlett made these two 9 patch variations for our Bright Hopes Project that gives quilts to the SA Children's Shelter every month.

Joy Wood made this "Cosmic Stars" quilt and used my favorite colors! I love it Joy!

Joy Wood also did this "Country Gatherings" quilt just in time for Thanksgiving when most of us are gathering with our families. Thanks Joy!

Bring and Brag is "Sew" Much Fun To See Every Month!

Maritza Recero is very proud of this "Vanilla" quilt that she made by hand piecing and hand quilting it when she first moved to the US.

Maritza Recero also did this sampler all by hand!

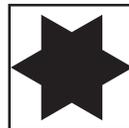

Maritza Recero also did this "Garden Song" Quilt all by hand piecing and hand quilting it! Thanks Maritza!

Thanks for inspiring us all to finish ours too!
