Remember to bring to the meeting

- Name tag (wear it)
- Library books, & DVDs
- QPC projects
- Bright Hopes quilts
- Smiles for everyone

This month's meeting will be our penultimate at Coker UMC. From June onward we will be meeting at St. Francis Episcopal Church, 4242 Bluemel Road. There will be more information on this elsewhere in the newsletter and on our webpage. We are still searching for a more permanent place to call our own so if you have any suggestions please share them with a board member.

Jeana Kubik gave a fine program on longarm quilting last month; we will miss her cheerful presence and wish her well in her new home. After the meeting, thirteen people followed Cathy Wallace as she taught them the beginnings of hand quilting. There were a few helping hands for Bright Hopes projects as well. So nice to see members taking advantage of the guild's opportunities!

September will be here before we know it and with it our Show. Don't let those quilts get the better of you! Keep stitching every chance you get so we can make that magic 300 for display. Sell raffle tickets, encourage advertisers for the program, donate items to the silent auction, sign up to volunteer an hour or two, do whatever you can to make this Show a blazing success.

Happy quilting - - - Mary

4.19 Pieces of the Past, 108: Paper Patterns, by Ellen Hernandez

The availability of home sewing machines in the mid-1800s increased the demand for affordable, fashionable home dressmaking. Home sewer paper patterns first appeared in 1860 by designer Ellen Curtis Demorest and were sold in her magazine, Mirror of Fashion. They were one size only and the reader had to re-size the pattern to fit. Demorest is also credited with developing a line of comfortable corsets and smaller, affordable hoopskirts. She employed over 200 women and paid them equally regardless of race. Her other positions included treasurer of the New York Medical College for Women, an abolitionist, and a supporter of the temperance and suffrage movements. She sold millions of patterns but because she did not patent them, her pattern business succumbed to other businessmen.

In 1863 New York tailor Ebenezer Butterick improved Demorest's ideas and used tissue paper with graded sizes on patterns. He publicized in his magazine, The Delineator, and packed the pattern in an envelope which included instructions. Releasing nearly 900 patterns per year, within about ten years Butterick had sold six million patterns.

Scottish tailor, James McCall, started his McCall Pattern Company in 1870 in New York. Most of their patterns included a publication date and full color envelopes.

Vogue Patterns began in 1899 as a mail-order feature of Vogue Magazine. It was purchased in 1909 by Conde` Nast who soon founded a separate Vogue Pattern department.

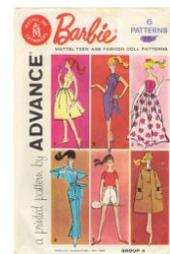

Simplicity started in 1927 by Joseph Shapiro, selling in over 60 countries featuring easy to use, low priced patterns. Their specialty patterns called DuBarry were sold exclusively at Woolworths for 10 cents in 1931.

Lawyer Conde` Nast created the Hollywood Pattern Company in 1932. The patterns cost 15-25 cents and featured popular radio and movie celebrities. The Hollywood star's picture and feature role were included on the front of the pattern. Those showcased were Olivia De Havilland, Betty Grable, etc. During WWII the patterns had a red star on the cover and since production stopped after the war, these are the most collectible Hollywood Patterns today.

Sizes on patterns changed over the years. Bust measurements were the only ones given at first. By the 1940s a hip measurement was added. A Size 12 was for a 30-inch bust in 1956, but increased to 34 inches in 1967.

Many pattern companies have not survived, such as Advance – they were also authorized to make Mattel's Barbie patterns, The New York Pattern Company, and Spadea which had top American designers and an International series. Butterick, McCall's, Vogue, and Simplicity continue to publish paper patterns today. They are all owned by the same parent company, CSS Industries. With the aid of computerized machinery, a plant can currently produce 100,000 completed patterns in one day.

There are several companies that specialize in the reproduction of vintage sewing patterns, especially those from the 1920s to 1950s – Decades of Style, The Vintage Pattern Shop, EvaDress Patterns, and Simplicity. Two new pattern concepts include Fitzpatterns.com offering downloadable patterns, and Clothkits made on pre-printed fabric.

- Viewers' Choice will receive a gift basket of vendor products.

Categories Defined

- To reflect the dynamic nature of the quilter's art, our show focuses on overall construction and design and less on the mechanics of production. Accordingly, there is no category differentiating professionally quilted work from others. To quote one of our past judges, "Well done is well done."
- Stationary machine: A quilt that is moved by hand under a sewing machine to do the quilting.
- Track mounted: The machine is hand guided over the surface of the quilt to do the quilting.
- Computer aided: If any part of the quilt is stitched by a pre-programmed software program in which the machine does the stitching. In the judging of these awards, both stitch production and quilting design will be considered.
- Hand quilted: The quilt is quilted entirely by hand.
- Quilters will be acknowledged on the gallery cards and in the program, but ribbons will be awarded only to the entrant, one per quilt, except where Special Awards Ribbons are given.
- Individual awards will be given for excellence in Hand Quilting, Machine Quilting (Stationary), Machine Quilting (Track mounted) and Machine Quilting (Computer aided). Those will be awarded to the person who has done the quilting (not necessarily to the person who made the quilt top).

TEXAS QUILT MUSEUM
History in the Making

LA GRANGE, TEXAS - March 15, 2019 – The Texas Quilt Museum continues its mission to bring amazing antique and contemporary quilt art to the public with four spring exhibits. This collection represents perhaps the widest variety of works on display at the same time since the Museum’s 2011 opening. The spring exhibits will run March 21-June 23, 2019 (exceptions noted below).

Southern Charm—Gallery I

These 25 antique quilts are chiefly from the collection of Mary W. Kerr. Her new book is Southern Quilts: Celebrating Traditions, History, and Designs (Schiffer). “Kerr’s book celebrates this distinctive regional style, from delightful southern florals to intricately pieced beauties,” says Museum Curator Dr. Sandra Sider.

Wagon Wheels (70" x 82"), artist unknown; design source DL Miller. From the exhibit Southern Charm.

See how the south’s quilting traditions developed among all socioeconomic levels, and in people from the African-American, Scots-Irish, and German communities. Kerr will give a free lecture on May 18 at 3 pm. This exhibit is partially sponsored by Gene Reynolds & Associates.

One Suitcase (24" x 18") by Carol Kolf. From the exhibit Fabric of Memory.

Fabric of Memory—Gallery II

This exhibit comes to the Museum from the permanent collection of the Heart Mountain Interpretive Center in Wyoming. A total of 23 quilts commemorate the courage of Japanese-American citizens imprisoned at a remote internment center during World War II.

The imagery ranges from abstract landscapes to realistic depictions of family life, with one quilt by a childhood resident of the camp. Dr. Sider remarks, “This thoughtful collection of art quilts concerns family, perseverance, and patriotism.”

Walk in the Woods (39.5" x 43") by Mary Jo Bowers. From the exhibit Saturated Colors: Art Quilts by Mary Jo Bowers.

Saturated Colors: Art Quilts by Mary Jo Bowers (March 21-April 14)

Gallery III

These 15 works by Mary Jo Bowers are characterized by bold color, organic shapes, and three-dimensional forms. Bowers manipulates dyed and painted fabrics, dramatically enhancing her surfaces with a variety of embellishments.

Walk on the Wild Side with Danny Amazonas (April 18-June 9)

Gallery III

In another 15 works, Taiwanese artist Danny Amazonas showcases amazing and monumental art quilts created with freehand patchwork, an exacting process of fusing many-colored fragments. His work is unique and known for its bold hues and multi-faceted designs. An educational monograph detailing more of Amazonas’ life and work with photos will be available for purchase in the Museum gift shop. Amazonas will give a free lecture on April 20 at 3 pm.

This exhibit is made possible through the support of the Taiwan Academy, The Ministry of Culture-Republic of China (Taiwan), and the Taipei Economic & Cultural Office/Houston.

The Texas Quilt Museum is located at 140 W. Colorado St., La Grange, TX 78945. It is open Thurs.-Sat. from 10 am-4 pm, and Sun. from Noon-4 pm.
